ECON 1000 | Introduction to Microeconomics

Sample course outline - Fall 2026

Fictional course created for testing calendar event extraction. Not an official university document.

Course information

Term: September 8 - December 4, 2026
Instructor: Dr. Elena Morris (fictional)
Format: Online lecture modules and weekly in-person tutorials
Tutorial: Wednesdays, 11:30 AM - 12:50 PM, Lecture Hall H
Office hours: Mondays, 2:00 PM - 3:00 PM, online

Course description

This introductory course examines how individuals and businesses make choices when resources are scarce. Topics include opportunity cost, gains from trade, demand and supply, elasticity, government intervention, market structures and the economic effects of public policy. Students learn to interpret economic graphs and use marginal analysis to evaluate decisions.

Assessment breakdown

Assessment	Weight
Online quizzes (5 × 4%)	20%
Term test 1	20%
Term test 2	20%
Final examination	40%

Course delivery and weekly learning

Twelve self-paced modules contain videos, readings and knowledge checks. The study periods below are not individual calendar deadlines; graded assessment dates appear on the next page.

Study period	Lecture module / focus
Sep 8 - Sep 18	Modules 1-2: Scarcity, opportunity cost and gains from trade
Sep 19 - Sep 30	Modules 3-4: Demand, supply and market equilibrium
Oct 1 - Oct 14	Modules 5-6: Elasticity and government intervention
Oct 15 - Oct 28	Modules 7-8: Consumer choice and costs of production
Oct 29 - Nov 12	Modules 9-10: Competition, monopoly and market power
Nov 13 - Dec 4	Modules 11-12: Externalities, public goods and policy review

ECON 1000 | Assessments and Important Dates

The following assessment schedule lists individually dated events for Fall 2026. All online quiz submissions close at 11:59 PM on the stated date. Test and examination times refer to the scheduled sitting, not a submission deadline. Dates and locations are fictional.

Important dated activities and deadlines

Date	Time	Event / deadline
Sep 24 (Thu)	11:59 PM	Quiz 1: Economic Thinking Online course portal
Oct 8 (Thu)	11:59 PM	Quiz 2: Demand and Supply Online course portal
Oct 25 (Sun)	10:00 AM - 11:30 AM	Term Test 1 Chapters 1-4; Examination Room A
Nov 5 (Thu)	11:59 PM	Quiz 3: Elasticity Online course portal
Nov 12 (Thu)	11:59 PM	Quiz 4: Costs and Competition Online course portal
Nov 22 (Sun)	10:00 AM - 11:30 AM	Term Test 2 Elasticity, policy and market structures; Examination Room B
Dec 3 (Thu)	11:59 PM	Quiz 5: Market Failure and Policy Online course portal
Dec 18 (Fri)	9:00 AM - 11:00 AM	Final Examination Comprehensive; Main Examination Hall

Submission and attendance notes

Quizzes must be submitted through the online course portal before the listed closing time. Students should attend the tutorial section in which they are registered and arrive early for in-person tests. The regular tutorial and office-hour times above describe recurring course arrangements; they are not additional individually scheduled assessments.

Reading week and examination period

Regular tutorials are paused during the October reading week. The final examination takes place after the last week of classes; the December 18 sitting is included in the assessment schedule above.

This sample contains eight individually dated assessments: five quizzes, two term tests and one final examination. The twelve lecture modules are instructional topics, not twelve separate dated deadlines.